ATTENTION Pet Safety Tips

 Keep your pets away from fertilizers and pesticides. These things can be harmful and possibly deadly to pets.

 Before planting new plants (indoors and outdoors) research and be sure they won't harm your pets. Easter lilies are toxic to cats.

Use flea and tick prevention on dogs and outdoor cats (products used may be purchased at your local veterinary facility).

 During your "spring cleaning" make sure your pets don't have access to your cleaning solutions.

 Do not leave pets in vehicles. It may not be extremely hot but the combination of the sun, lack of water, lack of circulation, and a furry pet don't mix well.

The longer the time or the higher the temperature outside, the worse the results. Short-nosed dogs (such as pugs, bulldog breeds, etc.) can be more susceptible to the heat.
